Alcester's seconds fought out a tight draw against their generally more experienced opponents from Birmingham.

Alcester's youngest player, 16 year old full back Martin Gurr, playing against some opponents who were more than three times his age, was his side's star of the show contributing 15 points thanks to a brilliant individual try in the second half, and two conversions. This followed his two penalties in the first half, which kept his side in touch despite trailing 8-6 at the break.

As well as his own try, Gurr converted his side's penalty try in the second period following persistent infringement by the visitors near their own line.

Alcester return to Warwickshire Second XV League action next week, entertaining Coventry side Keresley at King's Coughton. Kick off is 3pm.
