“Down to earth with a bump” Is probably the best way to describe this morning. After 3 months of building a good side and achieving some notable successes, today was obviously a disappointment. A couple of players were not very well, which did not help. As for the others, they just simply weren’t up for it today. It was clear in the training session beforehand and hopes that they would shrug off a lack-lustre training and play well in the game (as they did a few times as Under 10s) just did not happen.

But one bad result, against a very good side, does not make a bad team overnight. The lesson from today is that “we can’t play without the ball” and to get the ball first we must tackle much better than today and secondly once we have tackled then we must ruck the ball back.

So Tuesday nights lads, tackling and rucking practice, because if we can make a significant improvement in this area in the next few weeks then we can get the ball and start to play with it.

Well done to James Cook, who was man of the match, for a couple of inspiring tackles and for gaining both penalties for the one try that Edward Johnson forced over their line.
