

Alcester u14s travelled the short distance to Evesham for what is usually a fiercely fought encounter. The sun shone as Alcester piled on the pressure early. Henry Jenkins tackled an Evesham player who knocked on as a consequence. The resulting attacking scrum saw No 8 Cristian Rushton pick and run to power his way over to open the scoring for the visitors. Alcester continue to play good rugby as Chris Cook broke through Evesham's line. The full-back made a good tackle but Cook offloaded well. Another good pass then allowed James Goodall to score. Evesham managed a good period but could not take advantage of their time ion Alcester's 22 as the visitors defended stoutly. They cleared their lines and soon Josh French grabbed the ball and outspeeded the defence to put Alcester further ahead. A further try from Cook ended the half with Alcester well in control at 22 – 0.

The second half started with a scrappy period with penalties, lineouts and scrums. Alcester then organised themselves with a neat move of passes down the line. Evesham tackled well to stop the advance but Alcester worked the ball the opposite way and Rushton scored his second. French followed up by bursting through four tackles and scoring. Evesham then put together their best moves of the match and scored a well worked try. They quickly followed up as the Alcester defence went to sleep. Alcester managed to stem the tide and French outran the defence to finish off the match with his hat trick of tries. Alcester had continued their good form of the previous week and won this, their last match of the season impressively by 41 points – 12. Man of the match was awarded to Will Atterbury for his good support play and defence in the backs.
